Mans mense is bang om vir HIV toets te gaan en ek hoor ook dat swartes are not donating blood only a handful few do that: why is this?

◆ Lucia Hipondoka-Tuyapeni

Cde Cadas, lol, lmao! No need to get worked up my Cdes. I just asked: Aren't you men cheat in general or what! You are a man.

Lag! your reason for men in general who cheat is extremely INVALID! :-)

I think the issue is about the health of our young people. Africa is hardest hit by the HIV Aids pandemic and there is no cure. I think the best option is for one to know your status and if positive to be on medication in order to prolong your life. If negative to protect yourself. I know this topic is not popular for discussion but it is our future and we must thus discuss it openly.

I think we need a mandatory national policy for everybody to get tested every five years. Some countries have such policies, at least here in RI it is required for everybody to get tested every five years, and it is working, saving lives, and reducing public spending. Those of us who have lost families & friends due to AIDS know that had they been tested early and put on medications they would still be with us. Just my two cents.

Cde Dr just said it all

Part of Namibian Cabinet's function is "to remain vigilant and vigorous for the purposes of ensuring that the scourges of apartheid, tribalism and colonialism do not again manifest themselves in any form in a free and independent Namibia and to protect and assist disadvantaged citizens of Namibia who have historically been the victims of these pathologies."

◆ Ndumba J. Kamwanyah

Are they doing it? If not, what's the problem? My observation is that our Namibian society in general is becoming elitist-oriented. Apart from our full-time jobs, how many of us do help out b volunteering to assist people who need service most. Most of us when we visit our villages we expect to be treated like kings and queens because of our ... See More educational or job status. I will not mention names, but certainly some of our Cabinet members are out of touch with the people, and needs to be reminded that they are accountable to the people not the president.

◆ Petrina Nandjila

Indeed our leaders need to be reminded that they are servants of the masses, we will be judged harshly by the future generations for messing up big time

◆ Tjitunga Elijah Ngurare

The best example of volunteerism is found in the Founding President. The rest of us don't do that, even the railway project has been unable to move from Ondangwa to Oshikango. It is a pity we don't emulate the road of hard work paved by Cde Sam Nujoma.

◆ Ilimo Panduleni

Thank you Cde Ngurare for well articulated thoughts. I know we can handily recognize the contribution made by The Father of the Nation, with the ignorance, his leadership quality will continue to mentor many of us and inspire many as well. Indeed Cde Ndumba and Petrina, our politicians are not in touch with the people that put them in power, thus ... See More during the platform they are not debating on developmental issues for their communities. But I thought many of them went through transformational leadership training course.

◆ Margaret Mensah-Williams

Yes guys that is true, let's start to resume the railway project, I am in big time will place it on the upcoming Central Committee meeting because I mentioned last week Monday in parliament it is on record, will inform this network of the outcome if it fails to find fertile ground, than we are doomed, until then, I have hope, the fact that we talk about it gives me hope, together we can.

◆ Elizabeth Kakukuru

You are most welcome to this social networking, we discuss a lot of issues that I feel sometimes we need people like you to give us some encouragement and assurances on issues being raised, your participation in this platform is highly appreciated.....

Our leaders need the realize once more again that they are servant of the Nation, we us the people of Namibia our eyes are ever on them whenever something is in complete or not done well, we do this not because we don't respect them but is because when we cast our votes we do trust that these are the people who can lead our country and ensure its ... See More status of peace, stability and economic emancipation. I therefore appeal to all our leaders to be volunteers as well just like our Founding Father, Dr Sam Nujoma, to be down when visiting or talking to their people, we know and are aware that they are people like us, who can make mistakes and fail in some circumstances but the fact remain if you are working with the love of your Nation at heart and willing to make it a successful country you will never fail in your doings and all your work shall be transparent and qualitative to the entire Nation, there is no doubt about that because we got our heroes of the Namibian soil, whom we often talk about. Secondly, I as a young Namibian, would like also to call upon Namibian youth, to have their country always at heart, feel proud of being a Namibian and knows that vision2030, can not only be achieved if our leaders are working hard but if we all joined hands together and work hard, we have young people who got the knowledge to do great things in Namibia so far, that can take our country to greater heights but these people are failing, why? Because some don't have that pride of doing something great for their country and mostly they are not well motivated. How can they be motivated one may ask, only and only if our leaders' offices doors are open to these people who are eager and willing to do good things for the benefit of the whole Namibian Nation, but due to all these the road to progress is ever being interfered, because we don't feel welcome by our leaders to share with them. Instead some just join the industry work, get the monthly salary, abuse alcohol and wait for foreigners to come with projects that our country is need of, instead of us start it and approach them for advices or financial aid!

Africa Public Service Day

23rd June 2010

Theme

“STRENGTHENING LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT FOR IMPROVED SERVICE DELIVERY IN AFRICA”

This Day, among other things, enables us as Public Servants to:

- Reflect on the function of the public service; its mission, objectives, programmes/projects, successes and challenges;
- Give recognition to and make known the importance of the civil service, its positive contribution and benefits to public servants, population, civil society, private sector and government;
- Motivate and encourage public servants to continue the good work done and to come up with new initiatives and innovations; and
- Prepare the public service and administration for a better future by proposing changes for the social well being of the population.

Cde Mensah-Williams (The Iron Lady II), thank you for that undertaking, count on my solid support both in the CC and outside. Comrades! especially Vilho, it really is refreshing to read your post and I concur entirely with your sentiments. Let us make sure that we act on them, in order for our youth to feel welcome around their leaders. Some leaders are youth friendly. A good example is Cde Mensah-Williams and others despite their hectic schedules they are ever receptive to youth issues.
